Tree Houses

Costa Rica is known for its commitment to environmental sustainability. This has led to the emergence of eco-friendly and sustainable real estate projects that cater to buyers seeking environmentally conscious properties.

Baula Blue tree houses embody everything that is the future of Costa Rica. Nestled in the hills these homes offer a spectacular private jungle experience just steps from the beach and the town of Tamarindo.

The tree houses are powered by solar panels, leverage rain water for irrigation and waste, and utilize the latest in sustainable and eco-friendly materials and construction technique.

Relax in your private infinity pool, jacuzzi or by the upstairs deck fire pit and listen to the unique sounds of the jungle with the waves crashing on the beach.
